Fanni Reunion Foundation Award for Excellence in Engineering Education

Each year, Fanni Reunion Foundation, Inc. (FRF), gives Scholarship Awards to most outstanding Fanni graduates who continue their Masters or Ph.D. programs at US universities. This Scholarship Award has been identified as “Fanni Reunion Foundation Award of Excellence in Engineering Education”, and sometimes is dedicated to a distinguished professor of School of Engineering of University of Tehran, for his/her advancement of engineering education and training of Iranian engineers.

The Award will be presented to winners, at the annual graduating ceremony sponsored by the Association of Professors and Scholars of Iranian Heritage (APSIH), to recognize outstanding students of Iranian heritage graduating from US high schools, colleges, and universities. The 2010 ceremony will be held on Sunday, May 9, 2010 at UCLA Grand Ballroom (Ackerman Union).

Please visit APSIH’s website at (<http://www.apsih.org/index.php/2010-academic-award/how-to-enter>) for Application, and apply directly to APSIH for this Award. APSIH’s selection committee will select the winners in accordance with criteria provided by FRF. When applying for this Award, please indicate that you are a Fanni Alumnus (e.g. in your resume).

If you have already submitted your APSIH application material without mentioning that you are a University of Tehran, School of Engineering (Fanni) graduate, or you have any question regarding your application, you may e-mail one of the APSIH Scholarship & Fundraising committee members named in the website.
